

'Who's Who' Selects Now

SELECTIONS FOR 1957-58 "Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities" will be made this week.

A maximum of 36 University seniors will be chosen by the Student Life committee for the national honorary, undergraduate equivalent of "Who's Who in America."

Standards for selection are leadership in campus activities, scholastic achievement, service to the University and potential usefulness to business and society.

Undergraduate members of the Student Life committee met last night in the Student Union annex to consider Who's Who applications and classify their choices. The entire committee will meet Wednesday afternoon to review the selections and discuss any pertinent questions.

Faculty members of the committee will meet late this week for final approval of the University selections. Official announcement of the committee's choices will be made in December by the Who's Who national administration.

Faculty members of the Student Life committee are Dr. James H. Coberly, associate professor of American literature; Dr. Don C. Faith, director of men's activities; Miss Virginia Kirkbride, director of women's activities; Dr. Carol St. Cyr, assistant professor of education; and Dr. Richard W. Stephens, assistant professor of sociology.

Student members are Kathy Denver, president of the Panhellenic Council; Eugene Horowitz, president of Omicron Delta Kappa, men's honorary; Kitti Madock, president of Mortar Board, senior women's honorary; Al Rode, president of the Student Council; Jerry Roemer, president of the Inter-fraternity Council, and Doris Rosenberg of the HATCHET board of editors.

'Venus' Plays Lisner Dec. 6-7

"ONE TOUCH OF Venus," a musical comedy with lyrics by Ogden Nash, will be presented by the University Players on December 6 and 7, 8:30 p.m. at Lisner auditorium.

The plot revolves around a famous art critic, Whitelaw Savory, who falls in love with a statue of Venus which he sees while in Italy and has it sent to his home in New York. Complications result when his barber slips an engagement ring he had bought for his girl friend on Venus' finger and the statue comes to life, falls in love with the barber, and pursues him all over New York City.

"The choice is excellent for the University in that it has about thirty speaking parts, which should provide good experience for both old and new drama enthusiasts," stated Mr. Ed Ferero, managing director of drama at the University.

Mr. Larry Ramsey, a professional director from Actor's Studio, will direct the play and choose the cast. Try-outs will be held November 4 and 5 in Lisner.

Rehearsals for the chorus in "One Touch of Venus" will be held by the Glee club on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 7:30 p.m. in the Damock room of Lisner.

Also at this time, preliminary casting for a film, a musical version of life at the University, will take place. The film is to be shown on television on a coast-to-coast network. The cast of the film will go to New York for a screen test and auditions.

One Acre Of Moonland Given To Lucky Ticket Holder At Ball

... And where do you want your acre of moonland?

ONE ACRE OF moonland will be awarded to some G. W. student or alumnus at the 1957 Homecoming Ball, Saturday, November 2 at the National Guard Armory.

Highlighting this year's Homecoming theme, "GW . . . 2002," the award will take the form of a quitclaim deed entitling the winner to one acre of land on the moon, providing he returns for Homecoming weekend in the year 2002 to collect the prize. A quitclaim deed is conditional in that it transfers only such title as the grantor actually possesses.

Students Elect Queen In Ballot This Friday

THE 1957 HOMECOMING Queen will be chosen in an all-University election this Friday, November 1.

On October 31, a tea will be presented from 2 to 5 p.m. at the SAE fraternity house where the first judging for queen will take place. Five finalists will be chosen at that time. Eddie Gallaher, WTOP television and radio star, Phyllis Bell, owner of the Phyllis Bell School of Charm, and Mrs. Herbert Brownell are the three judges selected this year.

As a result of a poll last year, the student expressed desire to have the entire student body make the final selection of a queen to reign at the Ball, has been put into effect. The all-University election will be on Friday. Students at that time will cast ballots for their favorite of the five finalists.

The five finalists will make their first appearance on Thursday at the pep rally and variety show. In the past all the candidates were on the stage when the finalists were announced. This year, however, they will be behind the curtain. Their second appearance will be on NBC-WRC television the next day.

In addition, there will be reserved seats at the football game for all 36 queen contestants. During half-time, the finalists will be driven around the stadium in new Edsels.

The Homecoming Queen will be announced at the Ball, at which time Al Rode, Student Council president, will place the traditional velvet and rhinestone crown on her head.

Cecce LeSturgeon, 1956 Homecoming Queen, will be a guest at the Ball. The other four finalists will also be present in white gowns.

Hinely Wins As 53 Vote

COLUMBIAN COLLEGE elected Will Hinely as their new representative in a special election last Friday.

Fifty-three people voted in this off-season election. Bob Shuken, advocate for the Student Council, said that the turn out was very good. "This is generally the number that vote in a regular election," he continued.

The election was held to fill a vacancy created by the resignation of Carolyn Rowe, previous Columbian College representative.

The Columbian College representative's duties are to represent his school in planning, coordinating and stimulating the student activities and joint student-faculty functions of the University and its schools and colleges. He shall also represent his school in its sponsorship of the University dance and act on committees at the discretion of the president of the Student Council.

In order to petition for this position, the representative must be a member of the Columbian College and must not expect to graduate from the college during his term of office. He must have a quality point index of 2.0 or better.

Rally, Show Lead Weekend

THE FOURTH ANNUAL Homecoming Pep Rally and Variety Show will be held October 31 at 8:30 p.m. in Lisner auditorium.

"GWU 2002," the theme of this year's Homecoming weekend, will be the basis for the variety show. It is an original musical depicting the University in the distant future. The writers, Don Wasserman and Stan Smith, University students, have included in the review such song hits as "Jubilant T. Kornpone," "Heart", and "You're Just in Love".

The plot focuses upon Kenneth Kornpone, third-string quarterback, who suddenly finds himself starting the big football game because the other two quarterbacks are ill. The turbulent events which ensue create many humorous and entertaining situations.

The lead parts in the show were given to Vince Mortorano, Paul Garner and Sue Steinberg. This year's response to try outs was excellent according to the Homecoming committee. Over 50 students tried out for 10 speaking roles.

The evening's entertainment will also include the introduction of University cheerleaders and football players to the student body by Washington radio personality, Bill Malone. The finale of the evening will be the announcement of the five Homecoming Queen finalists.

Verilyn Brown Fleiger, GWU alumna, will direct "GWU 2002". Choreographers are Miss Elizabeth Burtner, modern dance instructor, Miriam Levitan and Jerry Osborne. Leon Brusiloff will handle musical arrangements, and Leo Galenstein of the Arena Stage will arrange lighting effects.

Ruth Reagan, Homecoming Queen's chairman, will arrange the presentation of the five queen finalists. Dick Cook and Carol Hesse, Homecoming committee co-chairmen, will coordinate the entire program.

Debate Team Argues Point

"RESOLVED: THAT THE requirement of membership in a labor organization as a condition of employment should be illegal," is the topic the University Debate team will support when it meets West Point here on November 8.

This debate, a part of the Colonial Program series, will be at 8:30 p.m. in Government 1. Edward Felegy and Dick Jamborsky, the University's affirmative team, will meet the West Point negative team.

The Debate club, more formally called the Enosinian Debating society, recently returned from a debate conference at the University of Virginia. William Daly, University freshman, was awarded a gavel for his score of 4.3 out of 5 at this conference.

A national topic for debate is chosen each year for all university debate teams to prepare. The primary work of the University's Debate club is doing research on the topic.

Tournaments being held this year in which the University is participating include the Temple University Novice tournament, the Hall of Fame meet at New York University, and the Dixie Classic at Wake Forest.

Membership in the Enosinian society is open to any regularly enrolled students taking a minimum of nine academic hours with a QPI of 2.0 or better. Beginning debaters are given instruction in formal intercollegiate debate.

Intermission at the dance will feature the presentation of the football award as well as the (See HOMECOMING, P. 8)

15 Tardy In Forms

• THE OFFICE OF Student Activities announced Friday that 15 University organizations failed to submit their membership forms and will be placed on probation for the semester.

The Student Life Committee will review these delinquent groups at its regular meeting November 4. If after a semester of probation the organization fails to pass another reviewing by the Committee, it will automatically cease to receive recognition by the after 47 groups failed to submit their forms by October 18. Forms were mailed to all student organizations several weeks prior to the original deadline.

The groups to be placed on probation are the Arnold Air Society, the Case Club, the Current Events Club, Delta Phi Delta, the Fencing Club, George Washington Law Review, the German Club, Inter-Law Fraternity Council, Kappa Beta Pi, Order of the GOLF, Phi Delta Delta, Phi Delta Phi, Phi Gamma Mu, Psi Chi and Rho Chi.

7 Petition For Co-Chairmen

• WINTER WEEKEND PETITIONING closed last Friday at 5 p.m. with seven applicants for the co-chairman positions.

Spiro Aspiotis, Valerie Berman, Viris Cromer, Bill Dotson, Gail Evertsen, Pat Pierson and Marsha Saslaw petitioned for the positions. They will be interviewed by the Student Council tomorrow at which time they will state their qualifications and plans as prospective co-chairmen.

The Student Council will choose two co-chairmen at this meeting. Their decision will be announced Thursday.

Winter Weekend, one of the events in the Colonial Program series, is scheduled for February 14 and 15.

In the past, Winter Weekend has consisted of a Friday night dance, a Saturday night basketball game and open houses, a house decoration contest and a jazz concert. The new co-chairmen will plan and organize the program for this year's Winter Weekend.

Co-chairmen for Career Conference were also to have been selected at this Wednesday's Student Council meeting. However, petitioning has been extended for this position until 5 p.m., November 1.

Career Conference, designed to familiarize students with career possibilities, features outstanding men from the Washington area who speak on their professions. The committee co-chairmen will coordinate the various phases of this activity.

Petitions may be filed in the office of the Director of Student Activities in the Student Union annex.

... Cheerleader Rossane Liggio staged a Pre-HOMECOMING battle of her own last week by pitting "Terry" a local copy of the Boston U. import against the likes of our "George." Lining up on the football, the antagonists circled about eyeing each other warily, then George attempted a fast opening pom-pom that was promptly stopped at the line of scrimmage in the teeth of a determined "terrier" defense (see upper left). The battle waged hot for quite some time before being called off with the results a secret.

Dr. Bolwell will conduct a panel which includes Dr. Alvin E. Parrish, as assistant dean of the school of Medicine; Dr. Winifred Overholser, professor of psychiatry and superintendent of St. Elizabeth's Hospital; Dr. Joseph R. ## Rush Ends Jan. 15

• INFORMAL FRATERNITY RUSHING will begin November 7, according to Jerry Roemer, president of the Inter-Fraternity Council.

This rush period, to extend through midnight of January 15, is governed by IFC rules and is basically an open period of time during which fraternities may take in new pledges.

The IFC president said that the number of men balloting fraternities this year slightly exceeded last year's figure. He said that the total number of men pledging informally this year might be considerably higher than normal.

Like formal rushmen, the student going through informal rush must be currently registered at the University for at least 6 credit hours. In addition, a man who has de-pledged one fraternity may not pledge another until the fraternity he first pledged files a written statement of release with the Director of Men's Activities. In order to pledge another group, the rushman must be free of all debts to the first fraternity.

Sticklers!

NO SORRIER WARRIOR exists than the one without Luckies. What's he missing? A smoke that's as light as they come! End to end, a Lucky is made of superbly light tobacco—golden rich, wonderfully good-tasting tobacco that's toasted to taste even better. That's a lot to miss out on—no wonder our chief has grief! Up North, you'd call him a Blue Sioux; back East, a Bleak Creek. But out in the land of the pueblo, he's just a mighty Mopey Hopi. (Smoke signal to you: Light up a Lucky. You'll agree a light smoke's the right smoke for you!)

Do you like to shirk work? Here's some easy money—start Stickling! We'll pay $25 for every Stickler we print—and for hundreds more that never get used. Sticklers are simple riddles with two-word rhyming answers. Both words must have the same number of syllables. (Don't do drawings.) Send your Sticklers with your name, address, college and class to Happy-Joe-Lucky, Box 67A, Mount Vernon, N. Y.

Homecoming

• ALL UNIVERSITY STUDENTS, alumni and faculty members should attend Homecoming festivities this week.

The Homecoming Committee has worked for months to whip up what we hope will be a memorable weekend for all. The variety show Thursday evening was written by two University students and should provide first-rate entertainment. "Your Health—Physical, Spiritual, Mental and Economic," which will be discussed by the Symposium panelists on Saturday afternoon, is a particularly timely topic this year with the Asian flu scare.

Friday evening is the football game with Boston University. G. W. has suffered from injuries and the flu so far this season and can show only a 2-4 record to date. After Friday the record should read 3-4.

Saturday the scene shifts to the D. C. Armory for the climax of this busy weekend as the 1957 Homecoming Queen is crowned during intermission at the Homecoming Ball.

Homecoming Weekend is the traditional highlight of the fall semester. Don't miss it!

Quota Or Merit?

• BY THE END of this week the Student Life Committee will have sent its list of recommended students for Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities to the national chapter. We trust Student Life's choice is dictated by their sense of responsibility to select only those outstanding seniors who deserve the honor, rather than by efforts to fill a quota arbitrarily based on total school enrollment.

About 650 colleges and universities participate in Who's Who, but the majority are small institutions such as Dunbarton, Eureka and Kings College. Among those schools that are not members are Brown, Cornell, Columbia University, Dartmouth, Harvard, Princeton and Yale. Such important state universities as Illinois, Michigan, North Carolina and Pennsylvania do not participate. George Washington is not a small school, and we need not participate in Who's Who for the purpose of achieving recognition.

About 51 applications have been submitted to fill the 36 places allotted to the University. Last year's quota was about the same. Although 55 students petitioned for these 36 places, 27 students were elected to Who's Who. Last year's Student Life Committee made significant progress in the direction of choosing only those seniors who have made genuinely large contributions to the University's activity program.

Several members of this year's Student Life Committee have expressed their desire to continue this precedent of tightening admission to Who's Who. We agree with these persons and hope the remainder of the committee will concur so that Who's Who will cease to be a subject of mirth and start to be an organization of merit.

News Policy

by Ernest Auerbach

• DURING THE PAST few weeks, we have received many questions on our general news and feature policy. Therefore, we feel a general explanation will help clear up these questions.

The item that gets first crack at space is advertising. Ads are the bread and butter of all publications. Without revenue, the HATCHET could not run. Ads out of the way, the editors can ask, "What is the function of this newspaper?" and we answer that our function is to print live college news. The emphasis is on future stories and we will cut a past event to print a preview story.

Another consideration is the number of people taking part in the activity featured. A University wide activity will be favored over a club story.

The HATCHET tries to be equitable in the allotment of space. However, we are fallible, and when the editors have only 20" of space and 40" of copy, something has to be left out.

The amount of space available also guides our consideration of columns. At present, there are only two regular columns: Foggy Bottom and the Editor's Desk. Foggy appeals to a wide audience and yearly holds the highest readership. This column is of an editorial nature and usually is aimed would like to run an art column, a drama column, a movie review column and many others.

Lack of experienced writers plus a lack of space rules these columns impractical at present.

Finance Professor Will Lecture Soon

by Gregg Mayer

• ON DECEMBER 11, Mortar Board will be addressed by Dr. Edward Acheson, Associate Professor of Finance at the University. The topic of this talk will be "Can Democracy Afford the Atom?"

Dr. Acheson, being an economist, will concentrate on the economic aspect of this important issue. He will mention that in the fourteenth century there occurred the introduction of gunpowder, and it took the world three hundred years to learn how to finance it. And now there is a new problem: Atomic Energy. What are the changes in our society necessary in financing it? This question and others will be brought into light at the Lisner Lecture.

Dr. Acheson has been at the University since 1936. Washington, D. C., is just one of many cities in the world that has benefitted by his presence, however. Edward Campoin Acheson was born in Connecticut, and lived there in a rectory, his father being the Bishop of Connecticut. From there he entered Williams College in Massachusetts. During his studies there and also during his graduate work at the London School of Economics, Dr. Acheson was a short story writer, and novelist. By writing articles, the basis of which he often did not fully understand, he began to realize the value of this education at which he was working. Hopping from one country to another, learning the ways and means of survival from North to South Pole, this busy reporter became foreign correspondent for the Washington Post in 1929.

Important Posts

Since that year, Dr. Acheson has held several important posts. Included among these are: Economic Adviser on Reciprocal Aid, Lend Lease Administrator, Special Representative of President Truman to explore food potential of Northern Europe, and Director of Foreign Service Review Course. Also, member of Artus, Knight of the Grand Cross, Director of Bank Hofmann AG, and Vice-president Director of Foreign Trade, Inc. of Panama are other positions held by this busy man. Dr. Acheson was Chief of Economic Intelligence in ETO, OSS, which was one of the most exciting jobs of his career.

Teaching at the University has been a source of pleasure to the professor, who sees Washington as the center of foreign and domestic activity. "The students are interested in their courses and I find them ready with questions and ideas on the economic issues of the times."

Country Living

The home of the distinguished man is in Vienna, Virginia, on an one hundred acre plot of out-of-this-world landscape, which he calls Rolling Valley. No matter what season, the view is always a masterpiece of Nature's best. Some of the most prized possessions of Dr. Acheson can be seen strolling the spacious grounds; these are Whimper and Lulu, English champion dogs.

From the country back to the district is quite a change of atmosphere, in both scenery and temperament. In remarking on the "sputnik" unannounced flight, Dr. Acheson maintains "America can do anything as long as it gets itself organized to do it. It is not a question of being ahead or behind others; we just weren't organized."

The notes of optimism and the fact that things are not "lost forever," as some people may think, contribute to the constant loyalty to the country and its decisions. With these feelings in mind, the average citizen can have a grasp of the situation. With persons as Dr. Acheson, we can develop a firm grasp.

Art Show Features South American Life

• FOR THE MONTH of October the University Library has been fortunate in obtaining the oil paintings and water colors of Edith Hoyt. Mrs. Hoyt is a nationally and internationally known American painter. She has painted and exhibited in many countries, with twenty-five one-man shows, the first in Paris in 1936, and seven in fine art galleries.

Her exhibit at the George Washington University library features a large collection of her Mexican and Guatemalan works. These pictures are rich in color and catch the spirit and life of the people, for whom she has expressed a deep interest in throughout the years.

Along this collection are scenes of ritual and ceremony. Her aim in painting these pictures is to depict how these people revert to pagan rituals, although they are Christians.

Her interest in these Spanish-speaking people, whom she so sympathetically portrays, is not confined to what she sees at present. She has studied their history and customs. For the past ten years she has been collecting the legends of the most important Madonnas of Mexico and Guatemala. Her exhibit features several of these Madonnas. It is interesting to note that she uses the vibrant, gaudy shades of these countries in their portrayal.

A striking contrast to her Mexican and Guatemalan works are her landscape scenes of Paris. She captures the early morning of Paris by use of soft colors, with a predominance of blues and muted purples. Mrs. Hoyt obviously does not limit her palette.

Edith Hoyt's color has been compared to that of Cezanne. However, she has a great deal more variety. Her academy train-

T. Brown Heads Alumni Dept.

• THERE'S A YOUNG man with a crew cut on campus. He is the chap who calls 708 22nd St. home base. Thomas A. Brown III, a graduate of the University in 1954, is the new director of Alumni Relations. Assisting him is Sue Scott Stockton, another University graduate. These two are very important spokes in the wheel of the busy alumni association.

Mr. Brown is one of those few fortunate beings who did outstanding work at school, really liked the place and is back in full swing with the foggy bottom activities. Although he had an opportunity to enter the business world, the ex-Army man (as of this summer) chose the challenging position with publicity work.

How many students are there who are officers of organizations, members of honoraries, mentioned in Who's Who and are generally well-known, and who are satisfied with their jobs, upon graduation? Not many. "When you've been somewhere (like the University) and put a lot of time into it, it isn't without a feeling of loyalty. At a university you work with university people, intelligent people. Of course the experience in student activities helps a great deal, too, because you can exert the leadership capacity that you had been developing at school," maintains Tom Brown from his desk. The job that Mr. Brown handles is one angle of the interest in the University. The main objective here is to stimulate interest in the University. In the under-graduate school, Miss Kirkbride and Dr. Faith are the advisors and planners, as such. The placement office does an excellent job in obtaining positions for both under-graduate and graduate students, full and part-time. And, of course, the alumni office works with those who have their parchments on the wall.

ing is apparent in her mastery of composition. I would say that her individuality rests in her magnificent ability to capture the atmosphere of a place.

Ruthie Enjoys Her Chairman Chores

by Elva Lee Schroebel

• THE "POWER BEHIND the throne" of the Homecoming Queen is a pert brunette named Ruthie Reagan, the Queen's Chairman of the Homecoming Committee.

This job, just as the title implies, means that Ruthie is responsible for every phase of Homecoming with which the Queens candidates are connected, which just about covers the field of Homecoming Committees. Rehearsing the Queen candidates part in the pep Rally, arranging for the Judging Tea, getting the judges, reserving the seats at the football game for the candidates, ordering flowers for the candidates and the finalists, running the voting on the finalists, and even the job of painting the throne the Queen will occupy are all part of Ruthie's job.

How did she ever get into it? "Well, I just thought it would be a lot of fun working on it, so last year after Carole and Dick were appointed Homecoming Co-chairmen, I went up to them and told them I'd like to do it," she says with a friendly smile. "I guess I didn't give anyone else a chance."

So far as "royal experience" is concerned, Ruthie has had her share. A Cherry Tree princess and a R.O.T.C. Queen in her sophomore year, Ruthie has also been a Homecoming Queen candidate from Troubadours. "I just hope I can stress to the girls who are up this year not to be as scared as I was," she says.

Originally from Texas, Ruthie and her family moved to Washington. Ruthie graduated from Wilson High School and just naturally came on to the University. "My sister," she says, "went here and I just saw so much of it while I was still in high school that I just never thought of going anywhere else."

Ruthie started off her freshman year by pledging Zeta Tau Alpha Sorority and being selected for Troubadours. With the Troubadours she has spent every Christmas since she came to college touring air bases in Thule singing for servicemen. "Troubadours," says Ruthie enthusiastically, "is a lot of fun. It's a regular 'fraternity'!"

An original member of the Angel Flight, Ruthie's served as president of the Flying Sponsors. She also worked on the last May Day as co-chairman of the Program Committee.

Our Kathy Works Around The Clock

by Jill Zell

• THE PHONE RINGS.

"Hello, Student Activities Office. Can I help you? ... mimeographing? Yes, we do that here ... a thousand copies by tomorrow? ... be glad to help you out ..." And the phone rings again.

"Hello, Student Activities Office ... oh, hi Joe ... surely petitions are still open, in fact we're saving one especially for you ... see you later ..." And the phone rings still again.

"Hello, Student Activities Office ... I'll be down in two flashes to pick it up, they'll be here to get it any time now ..."

Are you wondering whom this creature manning Sterling 3-0250, extension is? No, she's not Mary Marvel or Clare Booth Luce. The girl behind the counter at 2127 G St., the one with the black wavy hair, the happy brown eyes and the "I'm for you" smile is Kathy Denver, GWU coed.

Kathy took over Jane Rosenburg's old job as Student Activities Assistant this September while also taking nine hours toward her major, Business Administration. Graduation for Kathy will be in June.

Coattails Flying

In answer to my queries: "I'll be right back, I'm really sorry to make you wait this way but what can you do?" Here's a formal statement about what this job entails ... I'll tell you what it means as soon as I get back." And so she was off, coattails flying.

Upon scanning the statement in The George Washington Bulletin on Information and Regulations Governing Student Activities one finds that the Student Activities Office is under the joint supervision of Dr. D. C. Faith, Director of Activities for Men and Miss Virginia R. Kirkbride, Director of Activities for Women. The Student Activities Assistant is in charge of the office.

The services of the Office are:

1. The Student Activities Office serves as a clearing house for information about student activities at the University.

2. The Office is glad to assist all organizations and students regarding activities.

3. The Student Activities Assistant acts as secretary for Student Life Committee (without vote). Any students or organizations wishing to bring business before the Student Life Committee should present the business to the Student Activities Assistant who will call it to the attention of the Committee.

True to her word, Kathy returned within a very few minutes. After supplying Goat Show information to a Hatchet reporter, giving a Student Union Calendar and Roster of Student Organizations to another student, showing still another student how to use the student locator files and answering two more telephone calls, Kathy took a ten minute break to tell me what I already had gathered:

"The Student Activities Office has its finger in every pie on campus without really participating in any. I guess you might say we try as best we can to help every organization in any conceivable way we can."

Besides being Panhellenic President this year, Kathy's previous offices and activities indicate her leadership. In the 1955-56 school year she served the Student Council as Comptroller and in 1956-57 as Program Director. She was the Campus Combo Chairman last year as well as President of Kappa Delta. In addition she worked in the University's Cashier Office.

When asked how she manages her activities, her studies and her demanding job as Student Activities Assistant, her mood changes from gaily to seriousness and her eyes take on a somber appearance. "When I look around and see how very much more some people on this campus are doing, I am indeed humbled."

Thus sums up Kathy Denver, BWOC. She may be described as big-hearted but never as big-headed.

And Furthermore

I Read It . . . .

by Kittl Maddock

• THIS COLUMN, TO BE Written by members of the HATCHET Board, and occasionally by guest editors, will appear from time to time on the feature pages. The topics discussed will range over the variety of areas below.

The time has come, the Senior said,

To speak of many views.

Of grades and grecks and great events,

Of around the nation college news.

Of why the Union annex is

And whether pledges should wear shoes . . .

(Apologies to Lewis Carroll)

• THE CORNHUSKERS CAN raise corn in October that's higher than any other state's August variety, all songwriters to the contrary. A University of Nebraska sorority recently received a laundry bag containing one nude fraternity pledge. According to one report, the unfortunate pledge was seized by his future brothers, stripped of his clothes and dumped in the laundry sack. The laundry bag was then tied to the door of the sorority house. The girls quickly reacted with righteous indignation, by giving the hapless young man a sound pummeling. He was then sent on his way in a pair of girl's slacks. The fraternity has been deprived of its social privileges. There is no report on the sadly victimized pledge, who may have gone back to the farm to spend the rest of his life in seclusion, growing corn. (K. U. Daily Kansan UP)

• CRASHING A PRESS reception for the Queen of England begins to sound rather small potatoes in this land of boys-will-be-boys.

Two Phi Sigma Kappa pledges, Michael Taylor and Cameron Pippit, both freshmen, posed as representatives of an Oregon church newspaper at the official reception for Queen Elizabeth, October 17. In a letter of apology to Prince Phillip the boys explained they crashed the reception to meet "one of the most interesting personalities of our time." (Washington Post and Times Herald)

• THE BRIGHTLY COLORED Leaves of Homecoming are intermingled with the Spanish moss of last July's Summer Carnival on still clinging to branches of the library yards huge tree. Shows continuity in the activity program anyhow.

• CLARE BOOTH LUCE was identified as "the wife of the man who shot Lincoln" in a poll taken of 115 freshmen at a Southern University ten days ago. Plato was tagged as "Mickey Mouse's dog" and as for that fellow Karl Marx, 25 percent of those taking the poll hadn't the faintest clue to his identification. Elvis — listed as "The Pelvis" on the poll — Pressley rated a higher correct identification average than either John the Baptist or the Magna Carta. Guess that's what they mean by "What's this younger generation coming to?"

• THE JOY OF having three midterms on the same day is barely surpassed by that of having one of "those" exams on which the prof asks about the K.P. duties of Frogmen at 15 fathoms or the ancient-history of Football on the moon. But be of good cheer. It can only happen a maximum of three times per course per semester.

• HI THERE! (HOW'S that for an original beginning?) What shall we talk about this week? The game — maybe? — I'm afraid not, we'll talk about that next week when we're sure to have a winning score? —

Exchange time is with us again and the gay "Greek Round" looks like a promising one.

We hear that the Chi O-Phi Sig exchange was a tremendous success. To start things off, the girls beat the Phi Sigs in touch football then after a wiener roast in the patio, the Chi O's taught the boys how to play that unsuspecting game of "Choo-Choo"! Needless to say Helen Niles, Lee Russel, Bill Dotson and John Lintner were at the head of the line (now girls — is that any way to treat nice boys?).

Sigma Kappa held a "fun for all" Coffee Hour with Tau Kappa Epsilon last Monday (and you know when you can provide fun on Monday, it has to be good). Entertainment was provided formally by Sandy Ford with her "poetry" recitations and informally by bouncing pledge Mary (Ondine) Haynes.

You might think that the party crowd would rest this weekend in preparation for Homecoming—but it just 'tain't so. PKA scared everyone off G St. Saturday night with a Halloween Costume Ball. Decorations included: black cats, witches, painted mirrors, fall leaves, 'n' bats—with Hester hanging from the ceiling. John Metal-sky and Boots Spittle, ZTA appeared as a pirate and his lass, while DG Nancy Beale and Charlie Allicks were beach-combers. Bob Kramer and DG Celia Hayes were Apache dancers, French (that must have been cute), and Jerry Ramos and Joyce De Mattinar were a caveman couple (that must have been rough for Joyce). A pair of kitty cats also appeared claiming to be Frank Rodriguez and Gloria Ligio (I guess we'll never know).

The Sigma Chi house "rested" this week, but for very good reasons. Sunday afternoon, the Sigs initiated a weary, but eager new brother, Jack Tarr. Later the Sigs hosted the DG's at an exchange held at the house.

No rest for the Delts this weekend. Friday night found most of the Delts attending the Troubadors concert, which was certainly a fine show. After the concert the Delts went up to a new place called the Bricksheller, and partook of some of their 46 different types of beer (these boys will never be ready for next weekend). Among the group were: Tom Toppling and KKG Sara Moses, Delt from Texas, Sam Bradshaw with Sweetbriar grad Stella Moore, Delt Pete Dyer and Phi Phi Peplita Lassalle, SAE Eldon Miller with KKG Betty O'Horo and TKE Jerry Roemer with KKG Judy Jourdon.

Don't let those Friday exams get you down.

See you in copy next week,

SCIENCE MADE SIMPLE: No. 1

Though this column is intended to be a source of innocent merriment for all sexes and not to concern itself with weighty matters, I have asked my sponsors, the makers of Marlboro, whether I might not, from time to time, use this space for a short lesson in science. "Makers," I said to them, "might I not, from time to time, use this space for a short lesson in science?"

They agreed with many a kindly smile, the makers of Marlboro, for they are the most agreeable of men. Their benevolence is due in no small measure to the cigarettes they smoke, for Marlboro is a cigarette to soothe the most savage of breasts. I refer not only to the flavor which, as everyone knows, is a delight to the palate, but also to the Marlboro container. Here is no fiendishly contrived device to fray the fingernails and rasp the nerves; here, instead, is a flip-top box that opens like a charm, and inside you find a handy red tape to lift out the cigarettes with ease and dispatch. Add to all this the best filter ever made, and you can see that you get a lot to like.

Let us begin our series of science lessons with chemistry. It is fitting that chemistry should be the first, for it is the oldest of sciences, having been discovered by Benjamin Franklin in 468 B.C. when an apple fell on his head while he was shooting the breeze with Pythagoras one day outside the Acropolis. (The reason they were outside the Acropolis and not inside was that Pythagoras had been thrown out for drawing right triangles all over the walls.)

They had several meetings outside the Acropolis, but finally Franklin said, "Look, Pythagoras, this is nothing against you, see, but I'm no youngster anymore and if I keep laying around on this wet grass with you, I'm liable to get the backbone fever. I'm going inside." Pythagoras, friendless now, moped around Athens for awhile, then drifted off to Monaco where he married a girl named Harriet Sigafos and went into the chuck-a-luck business. (He would certainly be forgotten today had not Shakespeare written "You Know Me, Al.")

But I digress. We were beginning a discussion of chemistry, and the best way to begin is with fundamentals. Chemicals are divided into elements. There are four: air, earth, fire, and water. Any number of delightful combinations can be made from these elements, such as firewater, daeron, and chef's salad.

Chemicals can be further divided into the classes of explosive and non-explosive. A wise chemist always touches a match to his chemicals before he begins an experiment.

A variety of vessels of different sizes and shapes are used in a chemistry lab. There are tubes, vials, beakers, flasks, pipettes, and retorts. A retort is also a snappy comeback, such as "Oh, yeah?" and "So's your Uncle Oscar."

I have now told you the most important aspects of chemistry, but there are many more—far too many to cover in the space remaining here. However, I am sure there is a fine chemistry lab on your very own campus. Why don't you go up some afternoon and poke around? Make a fun day out of it. Bring ukeleles. Wear humorous hats. Toast frankfurters on the Bunsen burners. Be gay. Be merry. Be loose ... For chemistry is your friend!

Holiday's Activities Feature Party, Tea

• "OUR TASK IS to create, from confusion, for the Holiday Season's Activities," said recently appointed Holiday Season co-chairman, Tim Mead.

The Holiday Season committee plans to coordinate into two weeks of activities those holiday programs that have been undertaken independently in the past. There will be a toy drive, a Christmas tree lighting, a student-faculty tea, an orphans' party and a Glee Club presentation of Handel's "Messiah."

The toy drive begins December

9 and continues through December 13. The tea, Christmas tree lighting and the "Messiah" program will be held December 16. There will also be an orphans' party on December 19. According to the committee there may be a special dance also, since one of the regular Student Union social dances scheduled during the two-week period will not be held.

The Student Council began plans this summer for the Holiday Season program.

Troubadours Stage Traditional Concert

by Betsy Evans

• THE TRAVELLING TROUBADOURS' traditional fall concert, presented last Friday night, featured a full variety of numbers, ranging from folk songs to popular hits to grand opera.

Singing to a near capacity crowd in Lisner auditorium, the University's widest known musical organization backed up new offerings, such as a medley from the Broadway musical hit "My Fair Lady" with standard favorites, including "Halls of Ivy" and "There's Gonna Be a Great Day."

The concert was directed by Dr. Robert H. Harmon, associate University physician and founder of the Troubadours. Assisting Dr. Harmon were John Parker and Harry Gleeson. Accompanying the group on piano was Ginny Botek. Bruce Mencher played for ensemble numbers.

The "My Fair Lady" medley included "On the Street Where You Live," "Wouldn't It Be Lovely," "With a Little Bit o' Luck," "I've Grown Accustomed to Her Face" and "I Could Have Danced All Night." Featured singers in the Lerner and Loewe numbers were Billie Simpson, Ann Mitchell and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tolson.

"Carousell" Medley

The program also included another Broadway hit medley, a group of selections from Rodgers and Hammerstein's "Carousell," among these, "This Was a Real Nice Clambake," "You'll Never Walk Alone," "If I Loved You" and "June is Busting Out All Over."

Irish tenor Bill Dotson presented "Danny Boy," "The World is Mine Tonight" and, backed by the entire chorus, "When Irish Eyes are Smiling."

Soprano Soloist

The Troubadours' new soprano soloist, Jan Thompson, sang the familiar pop tunes, "The Nearness of You" and "Lullabye of Broadway." The men's chorus joined her in presenting the finale from act 2 of Verdi's "La Forza del Destino," with Richard Randall as baritone soloist.

The Four Winds, Troubadour men's quartet, garbed in bright vests and bow ties, offered highly rhythmic versions of "Rock Around the Clock," "Istanbul" and the spiritual, "Rain, Rain, Rain." Quartet members were Mr. Tolson, Mr. Parker, Charlie Rhodes and Bill Reed.

Popular Songs

Miss Simpson and Mrs. Tolson harmonized in a soft slow version of the currently popular "Tammy," following it with a fast, colorful rendition of "Gonna Sit Right Down and Write Myself a Letter," another hit parade number.

The Colonials, Troubadour barbershop quartet, presented several traditional songs, including "On the Boardwalk in Atlantic City" and "Coney Island Baby." The four singers were Mr. Rhodes, Mr. Parker, Dick Hedges and Steve Anderson.

The program closed with four familiar Troubadour numbers, the Arcadelt Ave Maria, the Randall-Thompson Alleluia, the Fred Waring arrangement of "Battle Hymn of the Republic" and the Lutkin Benediction, traditionally the group's final offering.

They will leave December 18 for an 18-day concert tour of bases in Labrador and Greenland, their seventh Christmas trip.

Petitioning Heavy For Union Board

• PETITIONING FOR POSITIONS on the Student Union Board was heavier this year than last, according to Bob Lipman, Student Union chairman of the Student Council.

The Student Union Board coordinates all student activities which take place in the Student Union, except for the Student Council dances held periodically on the first floor.

Handling complaints, said Mr. Lipman, is one of the main functions of the Board, which acts as a liaison between the students and Cleaves food chain which runs the cafeteria and snack bar. Accordingly, the Student Union Board has a yearly meeting with representatives from Cleaves to discuss problems which have arisen since their last meeting.

Plans for installing complaint boxes in the Union are being considered by Mr. Lipman at this time. In addition, the Board will consider remodeling the downstairs lobby and the second floor of the Union, stated Mr. Lipman.

The Student Union Board will sponsor dances again this year, according to its chairman, although the number and dates of dances have not yet been decided.

Girls Give 'American Wonders'

• "AMERICAN WONDERS" IS the theme of the annual sorority pledges' Goat Show to be presented on November 15, at 8:30 p.m. in Lisner Auditorium.

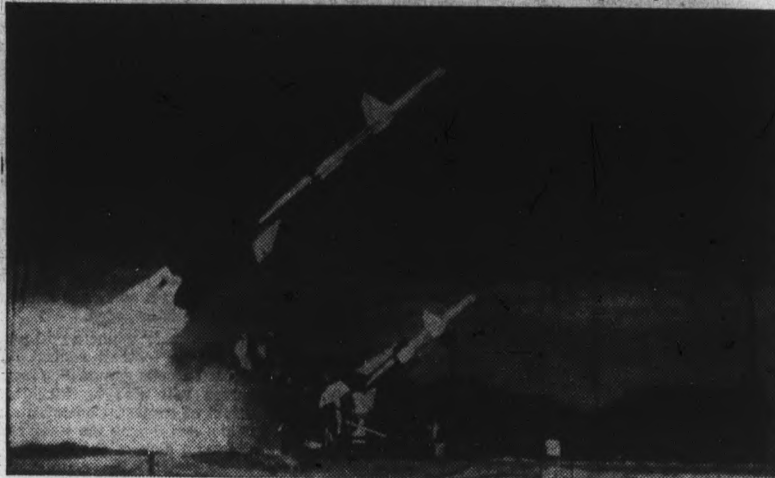

Each University sorority will present an eight minute skit. These skits will be judged on originality, presentation, and adaptation to the theme. Cups for the winners of first, second, and third place will be awarded.

Accompanying the annual Goat Show is a poster contest which all participating sororities have entered. This too will be judged on originality and adaptation to the theme and the winning poster will be displayed in front of the Student Union. Other posters will be placed around campus. Prizes for the posters will be awarded at the Goat Show.

The Goat Show is sponsored by the Junior Panhellenic Council. Its officers are Terry Bishop, Kappa Kappa Gamma, president; Sue Gadsby, Delta Gamma, vice-president; Sheila Stoddard, Kappa Alpha Theta, secretary; Nina Di Pierre, PiBeta Phi, treasurer; Mary Alice Coates, Alpha Delta Pi, historian; Lynne McNorris, Chi Omega, social chairman; Phillips Halfpaw, Sigma Kappa, publicity chairman.

E.E.'s, M.E.'s, A.E.'s, Math, Physics and Chemistry Majors:

First uncensored photo of TALOS, long range guided missile developed by APL for the Navy.

Technical achievement is our sole concern

The Applied Physics Laboratory (APL) of The Johns Hopkins University exists solely to make scientific and technical advances. For this reason we are able to offer our staff members freedom to explore tangential ideas, which frequently lead to significant accomplishments. Among our "firsts" are the world's first supersonic ramjet and the first large booster rocket. As far back as 1948 we achieved fully-guided supersonic flight.

Today two guided missiles that grew out of our pioneer work are in production: The TERRIER is now a fleet service weapon, and TALOS (above) has been adapted for land as well as ship-based operation. When TALOS was recently unveiled by the Navy, APL shared honors with many associate and subcontractors who had worked under our technical direction in its development.

We are presently engaged in missile assignments of a highly advanced nature which cannot be divulged for security reasons. Suffice it to say that, as always, our work is of such vital importance and urgency that little is spared to facilitate its progress. Scientists and engineers at APL are in the vanguard of science and enjoy the keenest sort of responsibility and challenge.

Hoyt Oils, Watercolors On Library Exhibition

• AN EXHIBITION OF oil paintings and watercolors by Edith Hoyt in the University library features a grand tour of Mexico and Central America and glimpses of France, Spain and Italy.

Miss Hoyt's paintings are centered primarily around Mexico where she lived for several years. A few other works done in France, Spain and Italy have been included.

Howard S. Phillips, editor of Mexican Life magazine, said of her Mexican works: "Modestly and doggedly pursuing her own way, allying herself with no tendency or group, shunning sensations, Edith Hoyt has created from the vistas of Mexico a glowing personal narrative—a vivid story of a land and its people, and of her sojourn in their midst."

Another critic said her paintings of France, Spain and Italy "are nostalgic," and added that she "manages particularly well to capture the atmosphere of a place, the dryness of Spanish landscape, for instance, or the dewy blueness of morning in Paris."

Miss Hoyt spent her childhood in Europe and continued her formal study in New York City and at the Corcoran Gallery of Art here.

In addition to many Canadian exhibitions, Miss Hoyt has had exhibits in the Corcoran Gallery of Art, the Joslyn Memorial Museum in Omaha, Nebraska and the Ecalle Gallery, rue St. Honore, Paris.

Navy, Boston U. Win; Rutgers Beat Spiders

• A FAST, HARD-HITTING halfback and a quarterback with plenty of passing potential face the Colonials Friday night at Griffith Stadium for G. W.'s Homecoming game.

Those two figures are Johnny Maio and Lenny Hill of Boston University. Maio led the Terriers to a 35-28 upset win over Holy Cross last Saturday by scoring 4 times. He sprinted 83 yards with a punt return for one score; ran 23 and 6 yards for two more; and completed his day with a diving catch in the end zone of a Hill pass which covered 8 yards.

Sophomore Paul Canco also turned in a notable performance in last Saturday's contest when he took a kickoff and scampered 95 yards to score standing up.

The Richmond Spiders seem to be hurting for a win about as bad as the Colonials. They lost another contest over the weekend to Rutgers 26-13. Richmond has yet to win a Southern Conference contest, and G. W. has not won a conference tilt since its opener with William and Mary.

Tom Forrestal, Navy's fine quarterback, sparked his Middle team with four touchdown passes on Saturday to a 35-7 win over Penn. Harry Hurst was on the receiving end of three of Forrestal's pitches which ate up 12, 12, and 53 yards. Wellborn, filling in for the injured Dick Dagampat at fullback, grabbed the fourth toss and went 44 yards for the score.

Navy compiled 18 first downs; completed 14 of 24 passes good for 245 yards, and rushed 165.

Ron Spitalney Wins Contest

• Ronald Spitalney won the HATCHET's last football contest earning himself two tickets to the Homecoming dance Saturday at the National Guard Armory.

Spitalney missed only The Citadel's victory over Furman and Stanford's upset win over UCLA. Ron picked V.M.I. to beat the Colonials by a 27-13 score.

Ron receives two tickets to the Homecoming dance, because all prizes were doubled during the final contest.

Ronald Seeger, a student in the Columbian College, took second place in the final contest. Seeger missed the Michigan-Minnesota game and Syracuse's loss to Penn State. Seeger will receive two cartons of Marlboro cigarettes as his prize.

The majority of the entrants had trouble with the Maryland-Tennessee contest and Arkansas' win over Mississippi. Stanford's win over UCLA seemed to cause little trouble.

The winners of all the weekly contests will meet in order to determine the winner of a grand prize. This prize will be kept a secret until a winner is found and the prize is awarded.

The weekly winners will participate in a football contest based on next weeks games. Pro football games will also be included in this final contest. Contestants will be notified during the week of the time and date of the contest. All winners will be contacted by phone and will meet in the HATCHET office to determine the Grand Prize Winner.

Looney's Injury Key To Winning Season

by Malcolm Martin

• COACH BO SHERMAN, APPRAISING THE 1957 edition of the Colonial football team during a lull in one of the scrimmages early in September nodded to the portion of the field where his quarterbacks were warming up and said, "They'll be the least of my worries this year." Sherman probably was recalling the sensational 50-yard touchdown run by quarterback Ray Looney in the last regularly scheduled game with The Citadel.

Looney, indeed held the key to the Colonials' 1957 gridiron success. With him the G. W. offense operated with clocklike precision. Last year the 6 foot, 190 pound back from Glassport, Pa., was voted the team's most valuable player, a selection few will disagree with.

Ray gained 518 yards on the ground and through the air to lead all Buff backs. Although he ranked third in total rushing, Looney possessed a 4.8 yards per carry average, the highest on the team. It was no surprise to anyone when he was named to the All-Southern Conference Team.

Looney's importance to the squad was illustrated for the first time against The Citadel. Midway in the third quarter with the Colonials holding on to a 7-0 lead, Looney got leg cramps and had to retire from the game. The Bulldogs struck with 2 quick touchdowns and G. W. lost. A few days later Ray got the flu and was laid up for more than a week, during which time G. W. lost to Furman 13-12.

Looney Hurt

The biggest blow to Ray and G. W. came during the second period with the Air Force Academy, when Looney entered the game. On the first play Ray lofted a 70-yard pass to Don Herman to the 15-yard line. The next play probably finished Looney for the season.

"Some guy tripped me and I went up in the air and landed on my shoulder. It didn't really bother me but was sore and I figured it was a nerve or something. Four or five plays later I landed on the ground after throwing a block and when I got up the shoulder hurt so much that I left the game."

Doctors diagnosed the injury as a complete separation involving no fracture. It is interesting to note that Looney's block helped spring Mike Sommer loose on his 65-yard return touchdown. Ray doubts whether he will be able to return to the lineup before the conclusion of the season. "It's hard to say but I'll know definitely when I start exercising my shoulder."

Picks G. W.

Looney had athletic scholarships to several schools but picked G. W. because it was not too far from Glassport. He is majoring in Business Administration, expects to graduate in June and is taking 18 hours this semester, "sweating" over Business Law and Marketing. "Most people don't realize how hard it is for athletes to study. Your body as well as mind is tired after a three-hour workout each day and you can't study as much as you want."

Ray has been a first baseman on the G. W. baseball team for the past four seasons and was named to the All-Southern Conference Team each time. In fact scouts from the Yankees, Orioles and Senators have been eyeing him for a few years.

"It really feels funny listening to a G. W. game instead of playing it in," remarked Ray over the weekend. "During the week I could be practicing with the other boys and I feel a little out of place now."

Sports Special

by Paul Truntich

• ON THANKSGIVING DAY in 1932, the Oklahoma Sooners vacated their home base in Norman, Oklahoma, and travelled across the country to battle the Colonials at Griffith Stadium.

Before 18,000 fans on a cool, crisp afternoon, the Sooners came from behind in the last quarter to tie George Washington, 7-7. That contest is noteworthy, for it marks the first annual Homecoming game played at G. W.

Through the years the Buff have not been so victorious in these games after its first successful start. Last year's 16-14 win over William and Mary was the first Homecoming victory for the Colonials since 1949. Since football returned to G. W. in 1946 after a three-year World War II layoff, the Buff have only won two games while dropping eight and tying one.

Following the Oklahoma deadlock, the Colonials failed to score in their next three homecoming outings, bowing to Kansas 7-0, Louisiana State 6-0, and Rice 41-0.

The great 1936 team (7-1-1) put G. W. back on the victory trail as it squeezed by West Virginia 7-2 the next year.

In the last decade, there have been thrilling Homecoming games played at Griffith Stadium, although, unfortunately, the Colonials have finished on the short end of the score most of the times.

In 1950 Davis thrilled the Homecoming crowd as he duelled with the late Steve "Cadillac" Wadiak of South Carolina, but the Carolinians pulled out the victory 34-20. Davis threw three touchdown passes while Wadiak passed for one score and ran for two more, including a 95-yard touchdown jaunt.

Then there was the game with Maryland, National Champions in 1953. G. W. surprised the 10,000 fans as it held the powerful Terps to only a 7-6 lead at halftime. Maryland came on in the second half to increase its margin, 27-6, but if there ever was a moral Homecoming victory, this was it.

The 1955 West Virginia team, one of the best elevens in Mountain-oor history, also survived a major scare by the Colonials. G. W. took the lead over West Virginia's Sugar Bowl team when halfback Mike Sommer turned in a sparkling 88-yard touchdown run that gave 20,000 fans some hope for an upset. The Mountaineers tied the game in the third period, however, and used a 98-yard march in the fourth quarter to win the game, 13-7.

Last year the Colonials ended their losing ways with the victory over William and Mary. Dick Claypool's field goal proved to be the margin of victory over the Indians.

Friday night against Boston University, the Colonials will be trying to salvage something out of a highly disappointing season by upsetting the Beantowners. The Buff have dropped three games by a total of 14 points, and a victory Friday could ease the pain a little.

Let's have a big turnout to cheer the Buff on toward one of their rare Homecoming victories and show the team that we're still behind them, win or lose.

G.W. Plays Boston U. In Offensive Scrap

Hatchet Sports

Jack HENZES Throws Three Scoring Passes In Loss

• Jack HENZES threw three touchdown passes Saturday against The Virginia Military Academy's Keydets to earn him recognition as the Hatchet sports staff's choice as Star of the Week.

Henzes, supposedly too injured to play, was on the field for 59 minutes of the game. He passed 20 times, completing nine aeriels for 102 yards.

His first TD throw was an aerial to end Franny Gleason, 11 yards away in the end zone. In the second period he capped a long drive by nailing halfback Ted Colna with a 29-yard scoring pass. Then in the third period, HENZES threw seven yards to fullback Jerry Power to complete the Colonials scoring for the day.

Jack, who has been playing the entire season with his left hand heavily bandaged to protect a broken finger, added to his woes by jamming his right thumb during the game against West Virginia. But it didn't stop him from turning in his best performance this season.

Prior to the game against the Keydets, Jack had completed only 14 passes. With his fine performance Saturday, however, he has almost surpassed his total passing yardage for all last year.

In '56 Jack was fifth on the team in total offense with a 3.7 average.

With Looney out for the rest of the season, the burden of running the team rests with HENZES. Jack spent last year playing in the shadow of the Colonials' number one quarterback. Saturday's performance has shown however, that HENZES has the stuff to be successful.

Buff, Terriers Meet Friday

by Bob Lipman

• GEORGE WASHINGTON SQUARES off against the Terriers of Boston University Friday night at Griffith Stadium to mark the Colonials 1957 Homecoming game.

Boston U., having an up-and-down team, has a terrific quarterback in Len Hill. With Jack HENZES' recent performance in the V.M.I. game, Friday nights contest is shaping up to be quite an offensive battle.

Friday night should bring about good, old-fashioned football weather. Coats and scarves will be in order, plus a date for a pleasant diversion.

On the field the Colonials should provide plenty of trouble for the Terriers. Mike Sommer, who pulled a leg muscle against the Keydets, should be at top speed. The Beantowners will counter Sommer's speed with Johnny Maio, a swift halfback who ran for four touchdowns in Boston University's 35-28 upset victory over Holy Cross last weekend.

Rounding out Coach Steve Sisko's backfield is halfback Jim Courville and fullback Jimmy Dean.

Defensively the edge will have to go to George Washington; although the Buff haven't showed much defensive prowess in their last two games.

Ends Bill Berry and Don Herman should have their bruises healed by gametime. Backing Berry and Herman up are Jack Kesock, who played a tremendous game against V.M.I., and co-captain Franny Gleason, who is still feeling the effects of a leg injury sustained in the summer.

Tackles Ed Rutsch and Bob Jewett and guards Bob Frulla and Marian Hoar will be in shape for Friday's game. Ron DeMelfi, sophomore center, will probably get a starting assignment against the Terriers after his sound defensive work in the V.M.I. game.

Sisko is eliminating the split T variations and will go with the winged T, plus a new sweep series.

Gate And Key

• ATTENTION GATE AND KEY! Initiation of new members will be at the Acacia house on Saturday, November 1, at 10 a.m. A pre-Homecoming cocktail party will be held at the Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity house at 8 p.m.

Tarr, Schobel Win Doubles

• JACK TARR and Elva Schobel teamed together to win the mixed doubles country club round robin tennis tournament, Wednesday, October 23. The tournament was the first of its kind to be held at George Washington.

Members of the men's and women's tennis teams paired off to play in this event sponsored by the Women's Tennis club on the East Potomac Tennis courts. Each team played every team four games. The winning team won 11 out of a possible 16 games.

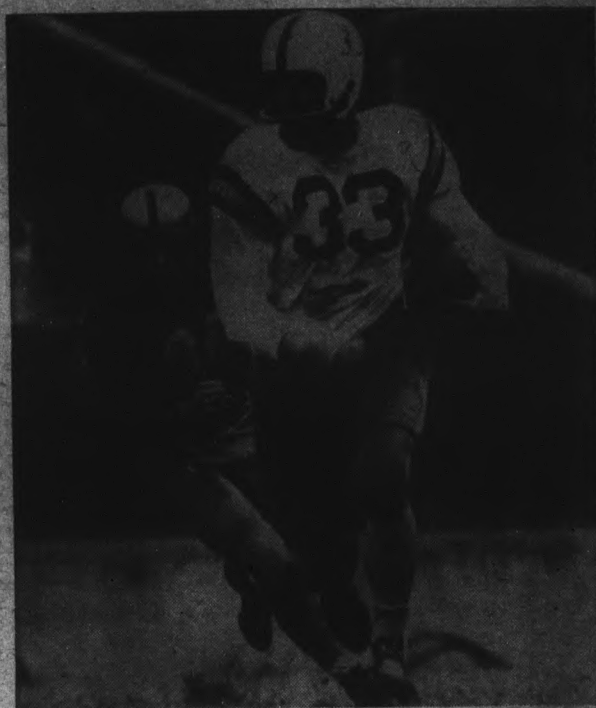

Runners-up were Jane Smythe and John Kaarid. Other teams participating were Barbara Baldauf and Jim Roper, Margaret Mix and Richard Fischman, and Nina Di Pierre and Jim Tarr.

The winning team in the women's doubles country club round robin tournament was Carol Olliphant and Elizabeth Mitchell.

Undefeated Keydets Shade G.W., 26-20

by Bob Lipman

• UNDEFEATED VIRGINIA MILITARY INSTITUTE kept its slate intact with a come-from-behind, last period 26-20 victory over George Washington Saturday in Roanoke, Virginia.

This loss marked the Colonials fourth defeat of the season and practically erased any hopes of a winning season. Boston University, the Buff's next opponent, upset Holy Cross, 35-28, in Boston last Saturday.

Jack HENZES, who was supposedly injured with a jammed right thumb, supplied the heroics for the Colonials. HENZES threw three touchdown passes to account for all of G.W.'s scoring.

Previously, HENZES had completed 1-14 aeriels. Against V.M.I. the little quarterback hit on 9-20 passes for 102 yards, and was the prime reason for the Buff staying in the ballgame.

Henzes, playing nearly the entire game, pitched scoring aeriels of 11 yards to End Franny Gleason in the first period, 29 yards to halfback Ted Colna in the second period, and seven yards to fullback Jerry Powers in the third period.

Sommer Hurt

Mike Sommer, who had scored in each of the five previous ballgames, pulled a leg muscle on the second play of the game and saw limited action thereafter.

The quarterbacks seemed to provide the show as Duke Johnston, Keydet general, set up V.M.I.'s last score with a 46-yard run and plunged over for the final Keydet touchdown less than three minutes before the end of the game to spell victory for V.M.I.

Johnston also pitched a 15-yard score to halfback Bobby Jordan in the first period and threw a 88-yard aerial to Jordan to set up a second period score.

The beginning of the contest gave no indication of the day's action. The Keydets struck for two swift scores and a 13-0 lead before the crowd could get settled in their seats.

Horner Scores

On the first play from scrimmage, V.M.I. halfback Sam Horner scooted 50 yards to the Colonial's 16. Horner, on the exact same play moved for 11 more yards. Two plays later the Keydet halfback, who all season had been taking a back seat to Jordan, Johnston, and Pete Johnson, plunged over from the one to give V.M.I. a 6-0 lead.

Attempting to avenge last year's one-sided 40-14 defeat, the Keydets moved to another score early in the first quarter. A 29-yard Johnston-to-Horner aerial set up the scoring pass from Johnston to Jordan.

The Colonials cashed in on their first break of the game when Dick Claypool quick-kicked from his own 45. Ron DeMelfi, starting at center for the first time this season, recovered Jordan's fair-catch fumble on the V.M.I. 28.

G. W. Scores

Claypool, Colna, and Sommer brought the ball down to the seven yard line, but HENZES was thrown for a five yard loss. End Don Herman was hurt and Gleason entered the game. On the next play HENZES threw a perfect strike, down the middle, to Gleason for the score. Claypool booted the extra-point to make it 13-7.

The Keydets matched G.W.'s score in the second quarter. The big play was Johnston's 39-yard aerial to Jordan that went to the one-yard line. Horner bulled over to give the Keydets a 19-7 lead. The extra point attempt was deflected.

Taking the ensuing kick-off, the Colonials marched 67-yards to score. The big gains were two 18-yard passes to End Jack Kesock. Then came the 29-yard touchdown pass to Colna. Claypool's kick was good and G.W. trailed at the half 19-14.

V.M.I. opened the second half with a drive that stalled on the Colonial's 15. Jim True, Keydet halfback, attempted a field goal that was wide and short.

Sommer Intercepts

After an exchange of punts, Sommer intercepted a Johnston pass and ran it back 40 yards to the V.M.I. seven-yard line. HENZES looped a pass to Powers for the touchdown. Claypool's try for the extra point was wide and G.W. held a one point lead, 20-19.

Neither team mounted an offensive until Johnston got off his 46-yard run, with the aid of Colonial tacklers. Seven men had a chance to get Johnston before Claypool finally brought him down on G.W.'s eight. Johnston's plunge with two minutes and 51 seconds remaining was the difference.

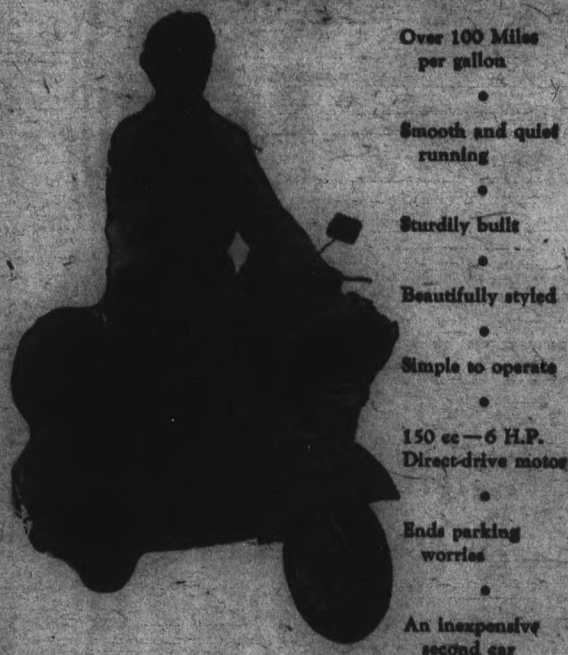

Horner was the workhorse for the Keydets picking up 106 yards in 17 attempts. Johnston added 77 yards in 11 carries.

Claypool led Colonial rushers with 58 yards in 15 attempts, followed by Colna with 39 yards in 15 tries.
